Dear Sir:

I am hastening to answer your letter of May 15th to tell you the jackets have not arrived yet. I know you must be annoyed about them, and I assure you I have never had any thing annoy me much more. This spring has been particularly bad as you know, and the team is without jackets.

Mr Manley went to Richmond and contacted The Railway express, and asked them to search for the package. I am sure you have done the same from the Chicago end. Will you please let me know if there is anything futhur I can do;

The team has left camp in Richmond, and is now stationed in Newark, but the business manager at the university will foward the package to me in Newark as soon as it is received. It was sent to the ballclub in his care, Mr Poole.

I believe there is another Virginia University in Virginia, and I wonder if they could have gone there by mistake. It does seem the express company should know where they delivered the package and they must have a signature for it.

I will appreciate hearing from you right away. If there is anything I can do please advise me.

Very Truly Yours
